women than we have in our Mercer county home bureau. To have had the privilege of working with them, to have had a part in estab-lishing this splendid organization. to me was a great pleasure and it is my sincere desire that the home bureau will live long and prosper," stated Miss Elsie Gildersleeve, for three years home adviser of Mercer county and an active worker in community affairs, who yesterday severed her connection with the Mercer county home bureau. Miss Gildersleeve tendered her resignation to the bureau several months ago.

Miss Gildersleeve will leave Aledo tomorrow and will visit with rela-tives in Illinois for several weeks her parents at Deland, Fla. Whe she returns to Mercer county in the spring she will not come back as county home adviser but as the home adviser to one of Mercer county's well known farmers, Glenn Gilmore, of Ohio Grove township. Mr. Gilmore and Miss Gildersleeve 99% will be married during the early 84% part of January at Deland. Miss Gildersleeve has been honored by many social events given her by home bureau members and has received many beautiful gifts for use in the new home.

With the departure of Miss Gildersleeve the headquarters of the home bureau in Aledo will be closed, to take her place. The work of the home bureau, however, will be carried on by the officers until a new adviser can be obtained. Officers 51½ adviser can be obtained.

Miss Corrine Baldwin, who has been acting assistant home adviser, will also discontinue her work at the office As county adviser Miss Gildersleeve has probably taught more women the value of cooperation and county in modern methods of housework than any other person in the county. She has personally super-vised the work of the 17 units of the home bureau and has introduced many new ideas in modern labor saving household equipment in the county. Her work among the girls of the county has been especially valuable, as she has interested many ingly dull; early sales, 6.00@9.00; girls in the art of cooking, canning like lowest Wednesday; all other and sewing.
